

H5M Documentation Home

This documentation relates to version 0.1

If you are using an earlier version, please view the previous versions of [product name] documentation and select the relevant version [put here an hyperlink to the documentation overview page].

This is the home of the H5M File Format Documentation space.

On the top level documentation can be found on:

- User's Guide \(public\)
- Release notes

Product information for H5M File Format

The H5M File Format is used to contain and describe the datasets that are a result from the MARIN Test and Analysis processes. It is implemented in the HDF5 file format (1.8.x) which is open source and for which a lot of libraries are available.